ADMINISTRATOR'S REPORT March 2004 Update

Subarea Health Planning Councils (SACs) Activities

- Hawaii There is a proposal before the County Council for a 2 cent fuel tax to support the transportation program. The SAC is looking into ways to gather support for the transportation program. In upcoming months the SAC will review the process used in developing the transportation project as it moves into identifying new priorities for the county.
- Honolulu Member Jim Walsh, HMSA, reported on "Health Care Financing – Allocating Limited Resources in an Age of Entitlement." Jim gave members current facts about Hawaii's health care environment: economy recovering, strong competitive insurer market, costs increasing, gov't reimbursements reduced, increasing malpractice rates, shortage of some health specialists, aging population, etc.; HMSA's financial incentives to providers to encourage quality care – rating on patient satisfaction, clinical outcomes, etc.; Annual reviews of provider fee schedules via a systematic data-based process.
- Kauai Council members began discussion of their list of 40 suggested Kauai health care priorities. The items which received most attention at this time were: health care affordability-employer and worker/uninsured; Kauai autonomy; prevention programs (asthma, diabetes, drugs); accessibility-North Shore, radiation treatment; and injury prevention-keiki seat belts.
- Tri-Isle Gerald Doeksen from Rural Health Works gave a presentation on health care as an economic engine in communities. Tri-Isle SAC reviewed three applications for MRI services on Maui.
- West Oahu West Oahu SAC heard from Lola Irwin from the DOH Coordinated School Health Program about current and upcoming health education initiatives and opportunities in the schools. The SAC is going to work with Hawaii Medical Association to develop a speakers' bureau to contribute to and serve as a resource for health education. They are going to contact leeward and central Oahu district health education coordinators about how they could become involved in the schools.

Windward Dr. Jane Kadohiro spoke with the Windward Oahu SAC on diabetes self management, treatment, education and prevention approaches and what some of the challenges are in living with and treating diabetes. The SAC plans to review all of the presentations from the speakers they have had on diabetes and determine if there is a role they can play.
